

At the NMEA (National Marine Electronics Association) conference in the USA, we had the 2019 award of products of excellence, where our partner FURUNO won in 05 different categories.

Congratulations to Furuno for these achievements.

Starting today, we will be posting 01 award-winning product per day, starting with the FA170, winner in the category 'Best AIS (Automatic System Identification)'. It is Furuno's Second Generation A-Class A A Isis, meets the most current rules for BAM (Bridge Alert Management), transmission and message reception and processing of up to 2048 simultaneous targets. More information in this link and this

link